

Accessing Your Online Course Materials

You need a UWNetID and password to access your online course materials. Information on how to set up your NetID should either be included with this mailing, or would have been sent to you when you first registered for a course with the University of Washington. If you do not have your UWNetID, or the information required to create one, please contact our Registration department at (206) 543-2310.

If you have just created your UWNetID, it will take 24 -72 hours before you will have access to your course content at our My Course site. For more details, please see “A Note on Timing” at the end of this document.

To access your course:

1. Go to <http://myuw.washington.edu/>. You will reach the screen below.

- Once you have successfully logged in, you will reach the main MyUW page. Click the “MyFrontPage” tab to view your class schedule (This will typically be your default starting page).

- In the class schedule example shown below, the student has registered for a class called “SPHSC 549 A.” To view a course syllabus, click on “Online Course” in the rightmost column of the schedule. If your class is not listed, or if no “Online Course” link appears, please contact UW Educational Outreach Technical Support by e-mail at dltechsupp@pce.uw.edu or by telephone at (206) 221-1393 Monday through Friday between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. PST.

A Note on Timing

Once you have created your UWNetID, you will be able to view your course listed in MyUW, and will see the link to the My Course site. However, it will take 24-72 hours before you will see the actual course content. If you login to My Course before this process is completed, you will see the screen below which lists the reasons your course is not displayed.

The screenshot shows the 'Overview of my courses' page. On the left, there is a 'My Course Help' sidebar with a 'Welcome to the My Course site!' message and contact information for technical support. The main content area is titled 'Students' and explains that if a user has registered for a course but lacks access, several reasons may apply:

- You recently registered. It can take up to a full business day for your account and enrollment information to be created in the My Course system.
- You recently created your UW NetID. It can take two business days to transfer your information from the UW campus system to My Course.
- Your course materials are not yet available. If you registered for a course that is scheduled to start at a later date, then you will have access to your materials by no later than 24 hours before the start date of your course.
- Your course enrollment has ended. If you can no longer view your course materials, then one of the following may have occurred:
 - You received a final grade and completed the course.
 - Your course enrollment has expired.
 - The course end date has passed.

At the bottom, it states: 'If none of these circumstances apply to you, or if you have questions about your account, please contact Technical Support at dltechsupp@pce.uw.edu or (206) 543-2350. Technical Support is available Monday through Friday from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Pacific Time.'

Even if you have previously created your UWNetID you will also see this screen if you log into the My Course site the same day you have registered for a course. Once you create a UWNetID, an overnight process is required before you can view the actual course content.

If you continue to see this screen more than 72 hours after you have created your NetID, please contact UW Educational Outreach Technical Support by e-mail at dltechsupp@pce.uw.edu or by telephone at (206) 221-1393 Monday through Friday between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. PST.

Know the Rules

You are encouraged to use the computer services provided by the University, but you must adhere to UW software copyright policy and be ethical in your computer use. It is your responsibility to know the rules and guidelines. Inappropriate use of UW computing resources can result in a loss of access to them.
