Using your Mac to connect to your office computer with the Remote Desktop Gateway

1. Search the Apple App Store and install "Microsoft Remote Desktop". You will need the red icon. The Satellite Dish is old and will not work with the Gateway.

   ![Red Icon]

   ![Not this one]

   You need this one -> Not this one ->

2. Open the new remote desktop client.

3. Click the Gear symbol "Preferences", and click the + symbol to add a new gateway. Fill in the information to match the screenshot below, replacing "username" with your username.
4. Exit the window when all information is filled in.

5. Click the + symbol "New" to add a new remote connection. As before, fill in your information similar to the example provided below.

6. Exit the window when done and double click the connection to start the remote session.