Life is full of excitement. This year provides the opportunity to build our skills in being flexible and agile, rapidly adjusting and reframing the way we see 2020-21. Think of this year as a hands-on, experiential education track in adaption. This track was not your top pick, but now that you’re in it, let’s maximize these lessons. The toughest part - diving into new territory is already done - now is the time to explore with vigor. By taking advantage of our chaotic times, and embracing change, you can surf the tidal wave instead of attempting to stop it. This is how you will learn exponentially. See the value in experiencing life now! Explore, experiment and Jump into Life- No Matter What.
